COPY WRITER

MISSION STATEMENT:

To write sassy, pun-filled, and trend-heavy copy across all platforms that is succinct and has a twist of empowered feminism.

BIO

My name is Tessa Fleming and you can't tell, but my portfolio is scented (and pink, obvi) à la Elle Woods because I'll work just as hard as she did, but it has nothing to do with winning that loser Warner back.

I'm the perfect combination of a creative writer, a strong self-editor, and a killer project manager; slaying all the details and deadlines!

My copy appears on websites, social media platforms, and e-blasts. Many of my clients are pop culture driven, so I'm constantly writing about the latest and greatest in celebrity trends, beauty, and fashion.

A few of my favorite things are the black heart emoji, Beyoncé lyrics (Who run the world? GIRLS), and burritos.

Chalkscribe is a hand-crafted stationery company founded by Emmy award-winning actor Wes Aderhold. Born out of his time as a “stay at home actor” he decided to put ink to luxe cream paper and let the absurdities of his mind take shape.

Chalkscribe sports a hint of pop-culture, wit, sarcasm, and sass and each design is personally created by Wes.

In just under a year the company has been picked up nation wide by Paper Source, Nordstrom, Urban Outfitters, as well as a slew of wonderful boutiques across this great nation.

For the hella spiritual fuckboy you met on Tinder.

There's no one I'd rather black out with than you.

I love you, but please grow up and replace the roll. While we're on the subject take out the trash too—ya lazy bum. <3

Ain't nobody fucking with my clique.

Snapchat developed the “pretty filter” after stalking your Insta.

And the extra calories.
